

TEACHING TOLERANCE

A PROJECT OF THE SOUTHERN POVERTY LAW CENTER
TOLERANCE.ORG

Our “100 Days” Plan

After reading “The First 100 Days,” brainstorm to come up with your own classroom plan.

When a new U.S. president takes office, that person makes a plan for the first 100 days of their presidency. This plan shows the president’s values and priorities.

Our school has _____ days left in this school year. Here is our plan for what we want to value and prioritize in our classroom for the next _____ days.

Vocabulary

Value: An idea we care about that guides our behavior

Priority: An activity or achievement that is more important to us than any others

Our Classroom Values

Our classroom is a _____ place.

Each person in our classroom is _____.

We want people to feel _____ when they come here.

When we disagree, we handle it by _____

_____.

Our classroom motto is _____

_____.

Our Classroom Priorities

In the next _____ days, we want to accomplish the following classroom goals:

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.

Our Helping Priorities

In the next _____ days, we will make our school a better place by:

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.

In the next _____ days, we will make our community a better place by:

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.